JHO Laura 10yo 13yo

As New York City began asking its residents to stay home and following lockdowns and curfews, best-selling author and illustrator Laura Vaccaro Seeger saw this glimpse of her childhood world once again. Laura tells how she grew up on a farm in Pleasantville, New York; how she and her siblings were hogs at the confluence of the Delaware and Hackensack rivers; and how the sheer size of the farm, with its snaking dirt roads and one-room schoolhouse, became a backdrop for some of her best-loved books. Laura Vaccaro Seeger is a New York Times best-selling author and illustrator and a 2-time winner of the Caldecott Honor Award, winner of the New York Times Best Illustrated Book Award, the Boston Globe/Horn Book Award for Best Picture Book, and a 2-time winner of the Theodor Seuss Geisel Honor Award. She is also the recipient of the Empire State Award for Body of Work and Contribution to Childrens Literature. Laura writes and illustrates a collection of stories about her childhood home of Pleasantville, New York. In Farm City, she gives readers the blue-collar details of her hometown, where her father worked as a plumber, her mother served as a cafeteria manager, and Laura grew up with three sisters. Through her illustrations, Laura brings her hometown to life, with a dollop of humor, silliness, and love. Laura Splan's work interrogates the material manifestations of our cultural ambivalence towards the human body. Her conceptually based projects employ a range of traditional and digital techniques. She often uses found objects and appropriated sources to explore socially constructed perceptions of order and disorder. Much of her work is inspired by experimentation with materials and processes including blood, cosmetic facial peel and digital fabrication. 5ec8ef588b
